Bishop reminds people that not everything in life is locked down

As we continue to battle with Covid-19, the Bishop of Achonry, Most Rev Paul Dempsey, has reminded people that not everything in life is locked down.

"Sunshine is not locked down, family time is not locked down, friendship is not locked down, prayer is not locked down, creativity is not locked down, hobbies are not locked down, goodness is not locked down, love is not locked down and hope is not locked down."

While admitting that people are "weary" of the way of life at the moment, he urged people to support one another.

"I am particularly conscious of families who were preparing for First Holy Communion and Confirmations over the coming weeks.

"No doubt there is huge disappointment. As I journeyed around the diocese in recent weeks, I saw the major effort that has been made in our parishes to enable the celebration of public Masses.

Teams of people stewarding and sanitising to ensure our places of worship were safe for everyone.

"This effort is so much appreciated and I thank all who were so generous in giving of their time. Sadly, we now have to return to online Masses for the next three weeks.

"Most of us are weary with the way life is at the moment as we continue our struggle with Covid-19 and long to get back to normal life. However, we must continue to support one another and encourage one another during these difficult days.

"Over the past number of months, so many positive things have happened and the goodness of people has shone through. So let's focus on these positives and keep our hearts alive with hope as we continue this journey together.

"Let's continue to pray for each other and those who are in special need of our prayer at this time," concluded Bishop Dempsey.
