A Poem Tobe Said On Hearing the Birds Sing 1920::2020

By Film Artist Peter Kilmartin/Spicy Dog Media

An emotive and reflective outdoor film representation of Douglas Hyde's poem, visualising the struggle for Irish independence in County Roscommon. Venues: Roscommon Arts Centre; King House Boyle, Douglas Hyde Centre Frenchpark; Entrance to Strokestown House (Connellan Solicitors Building)

Dates: 18th, 19th + 20th September 7-9pm

A Roscommon County Council Commission supported by the Arts Office and Arts Council of Ireland Culture Night Programme, together with the Community Strand of the 2020 Decade of Centenaries Programme.

Mark Garry: An Lucht Siúil (The Walking People)

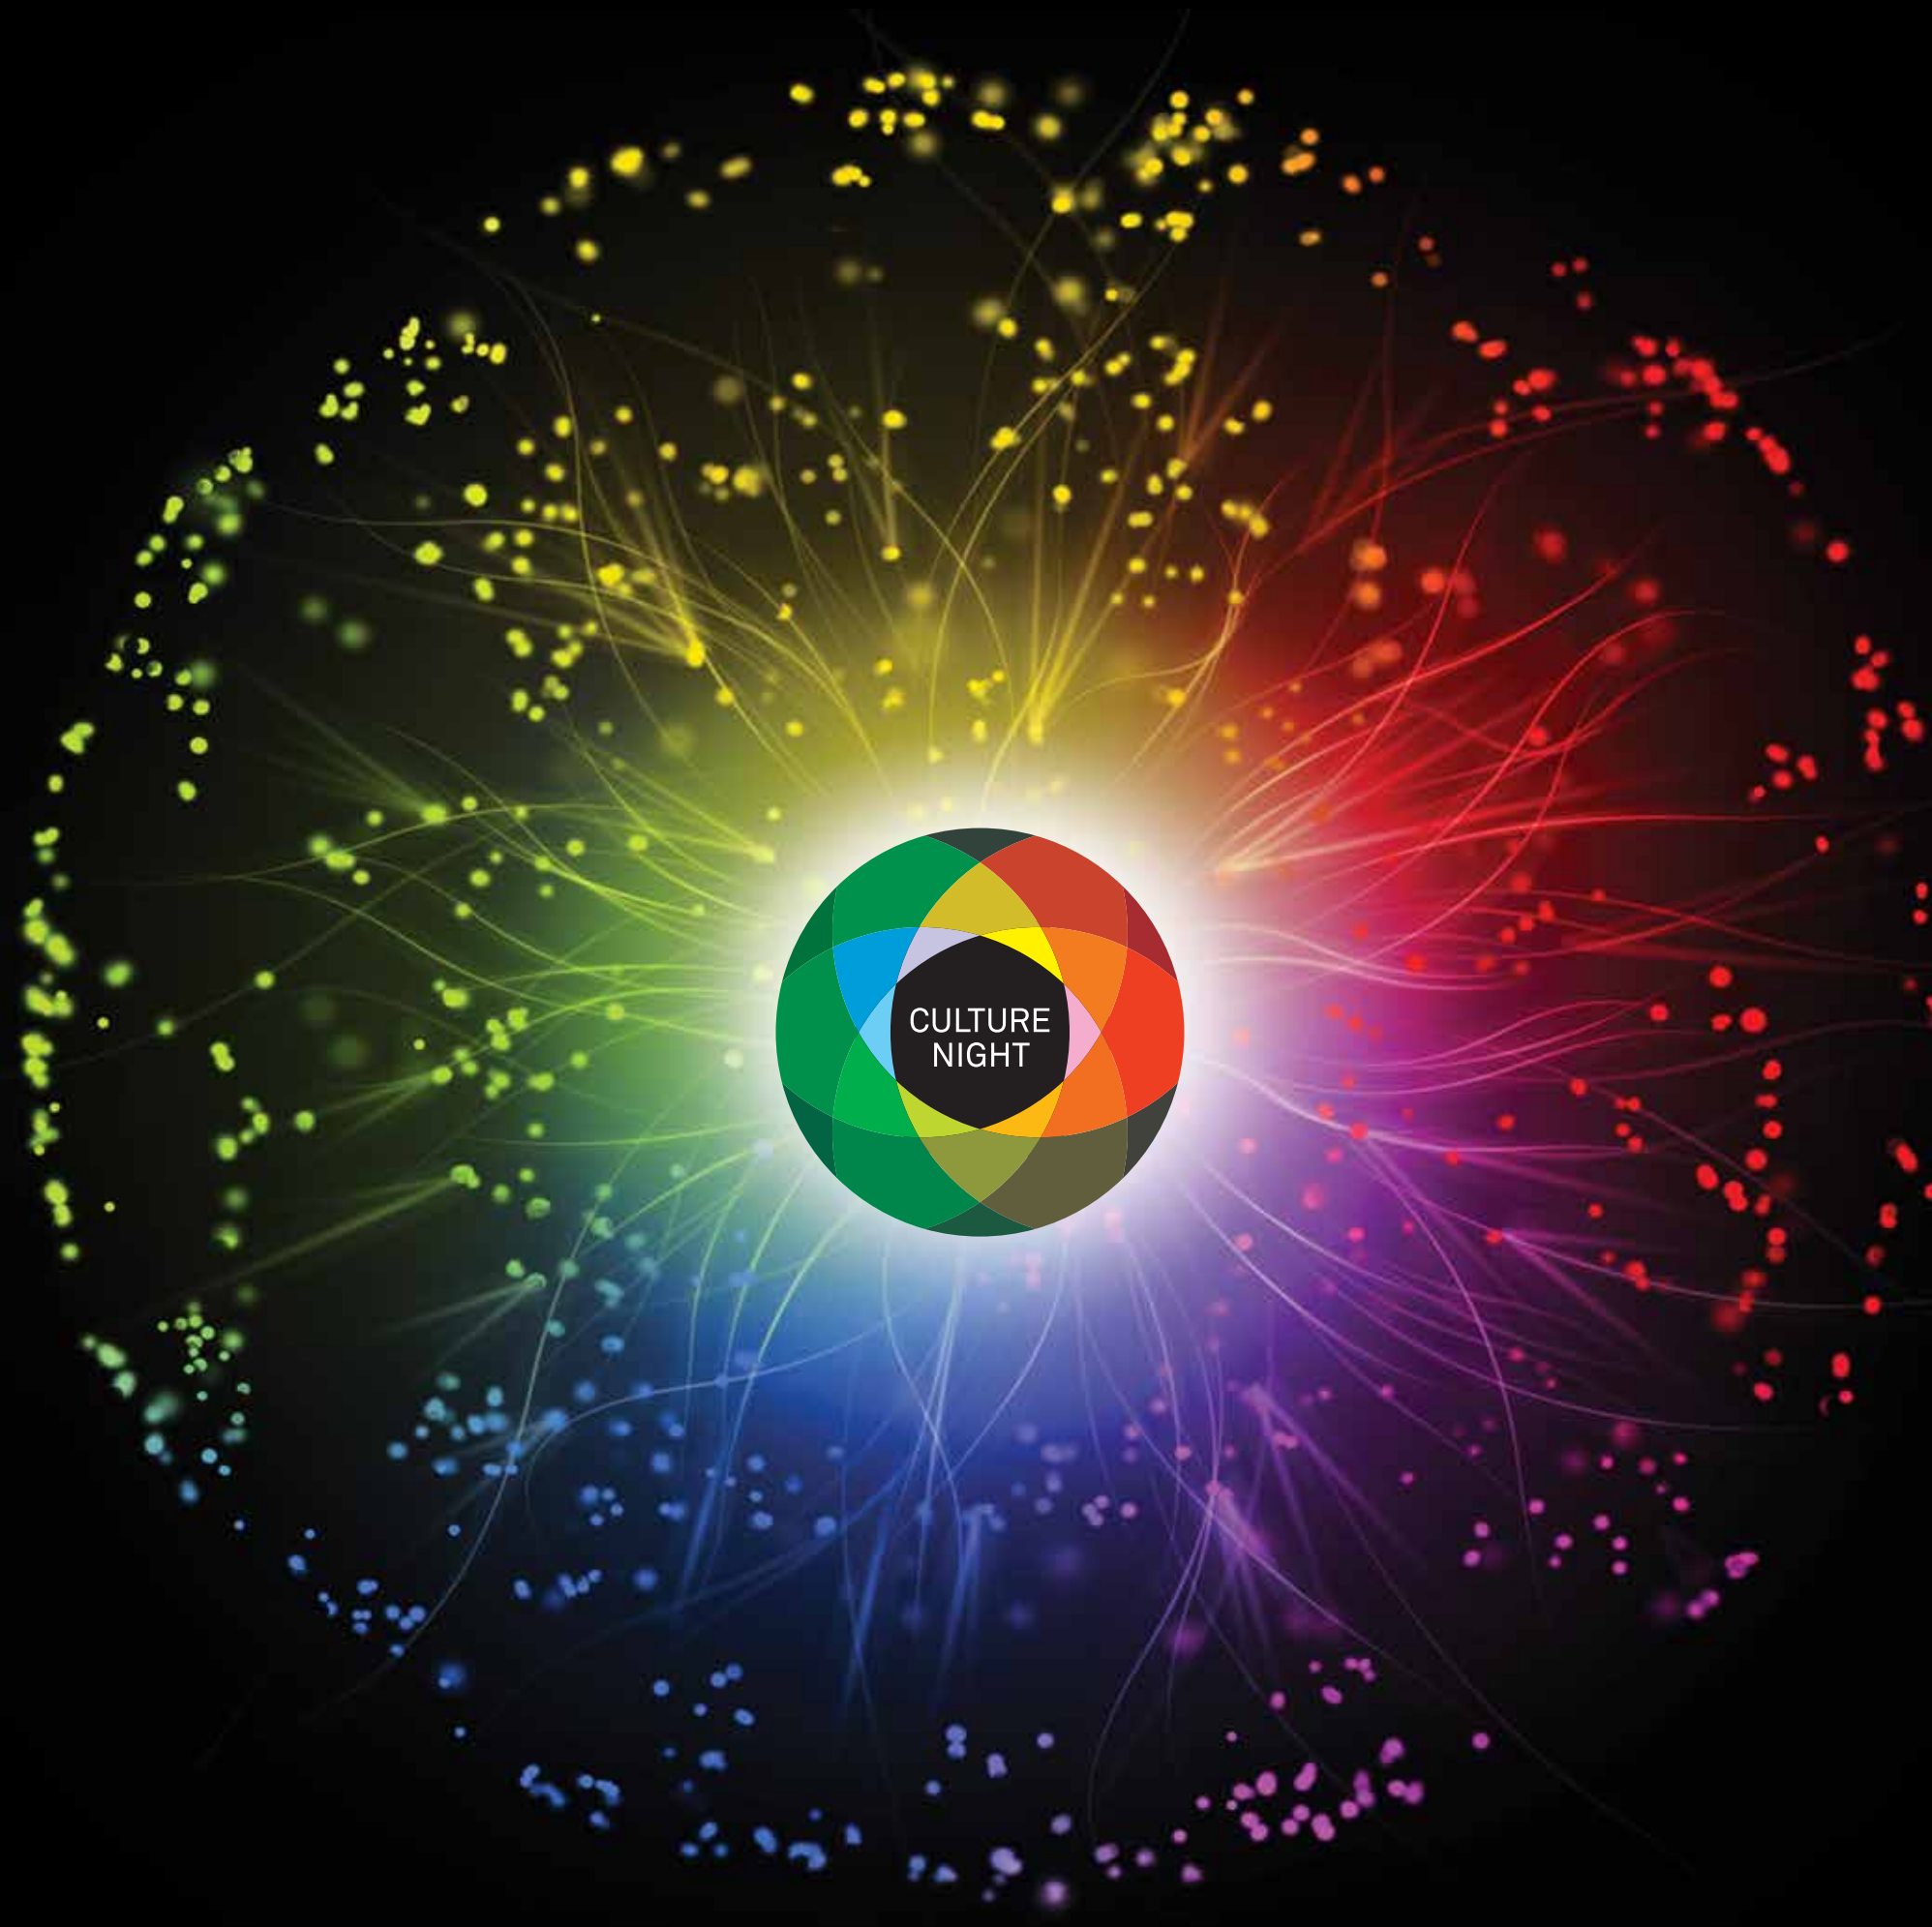

Mark Garry's film explores the relationship between Irish travellers and modernism, specifically the relationship between Irish Travellers and the Irish state as it is played out between the traveller and settled communities in the middle part of the last century.

Venue: Roscommon Arts Centre Gallery Space. Until 8pm. Exhibition continues until 25th September during centre opening hours

Fregoli Theatre Company: I Want You to Know Me and Inside You Stay

As part of Fregoli Theatre Company's re-imagined residency at Roscommon Arts Centre, during lockdown the company produced two new short online theatre performances, which will be shared once again on Culture Night via Roscommon Arts Centre Facebook page

Supported by The Arts Council and the Creative Ireland Roscommon Programme.
